

Business Continuity Program Services

Don't go it alone!

Our philosophy is centered on collaborative knowledge transfer. Your organization will be well prepared and self-sufficient.

Virtual Corporation consultants are senior practitioners who have successfully served as BC professionals within one or more organizations prior to joining our team. Once here, they are immersed in our core mission, to teach our clients to 'fish for themselves.' We have proven methods and tools, and we are uniquely adaptable, able to enhance existing plans and programs or, when needed, provide our own proven templates that meet sector specific standards.

BC Program Enhancement/Design

Whether you start from scratch or want to enhance an already mature BC program, we can help. With our proprietary 'BC Program Design Checklist', we'll lead your team through a structured workshop to educate and ensure your program meets objectives, industry best practices, cost, and resource constraints.

Plan Development and/or Review

Are you looking to have third party review or oversight of your existing BC plans? Perhaps you could use some outside help leading your BC planning teams through their first BC plans or support them through the recurring annual plan update? Our consultants have the tools and expertise to help. We adapt our methods and tools to best fit your organization's needs.

Program Administration

For those organizations not currently staffed to manage and sustain their BC program, we can provide the resources to keep your program moving forward. We offer a variety of creative, cost-effective resource support options tailored to fit most organization's needs and budget.

Risk Assessment (RA) & Business Impact Analysis (BIA)

Organizations vary in how they integrate risk and business impact into their BC programs. We are steeped in the standards but also understand that each organization has a unique culture and other criteria that must be considered as well. We tailor each project to our client's needs, defined scope and sector-specific requirements. For example: FCD 1 & 2 mission essential functions for our government clients.

Exercises and Testing

"Plans are nothing. Planning is everything." Eisenhower's famous quote succinctly highlights the value of BC planning and most importantly, testing and exercising those plans. Our experts will help you plan, conduct tests, and exercises of any type and scale. We assist you with a variety of testing initiatives, building libraries of self-directed drills, and other training aids.

Executive BIA

We have developed an innovative method to engage your C-level in quantifying their 'risk appetite'. The result, your executives establish target recovery times for each functional area. These targets then serve as guiding principles to each department when they perform BIAs. With guidance provided by leadership, teams are much more inclined to provide realistic recovery times leading to achievable, economical outcomes.

Business Continuity Maturity Model® (BCMM®) Assessments

The BCMM® is recognized worldwide as a comprehensive framework by which continuity programs are efficiently assessed. We created the BCMM® to specifically help organizations engage their executives in answering the three questions every BC professional must answer when seeking their support:

- Where do we want to be?
- Where are we today?
- How do we get there?
